Representatives from Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority (project manager and public information officer) warmly greeted City officials at the site of the new Milpitas Transit Center, in the Transit Area near Montague at Capital. While the new BART station was nearing completion for the construction phase, there would be a great deal of testing to be done before the station opened for the public. VTA staff provided an in-depth tour of the station entry, the platform area, and the bike and car parking lots, including the scenic view from the top (6th floor) of the new parking garage. Unique station features including artistic colored glass - appreciated at sunset time - were highlighted on the tour.

Upon the conclusion of the station tour, VTA staff thanked City officials for coming and provided information to take home.

ADJOURNMENT

The meeting/tour was adjourned at the conclusion of the transit station tour at 6:10 PM.
